5. Using the banned book you chose, do one or more of the following activities:

A. Create a new book cover for your banned book. Include a new cover illustration, a brief summary of the book, a sentence or two explaining why the book was banned, and a warning explaining who should (or shouldn't) read the book.

B. Pretend you are trying to keep your local library from banning the book. Write a short persuasive essay telling why the book shouldn't be banned. Be sure to explain why the book is valuable and important to the reader.

C. Pretend you are the author of the book. Create a video explaining to parents of students why they should allow their students to read your book. Be creative! Have fun!

D. Pretend you are a student who wants to read a banned book, but you must convince your parents that it's a good idea. Make a video to convince your parents why you should be allowed to read the book. Make it funny or dramatic. Use your imagination!
